

Nonprofit News

A new collection at the C. Burr Artz Library helps open doors for nonprofit organizations seeking assistance. Officially called, the “Cooperating Collection from the Foundation Center,” the resource offers print materials and electronic data on topics ranging from grant writing and fundraising to database listings of potential donor organizations. The Frederick-based Aushman Family Foundation (AFF) is responsible for this new library addition.

Foundation Director Noreen Haas sees it as the “premiere place for nonprofits looking for extra resources.” AFF is hosting a free luncheon at 11:30 a.m. for nonprofits to come learn about what the collection holds and how to use it on Tuesday, August 26, at C. Burr Artz Library in Frederick.

For information, contact the library or Haas at nhaas@aushmanfamilyfoundation.org or 301-620-4443.

Want to work at Fort Detrick?

Visit www.frederickworks.com/FtDetrick/ for online job listings and how to apply.